

AN IMPORTANT DECISION.

In San Benito county, California, the Board of County Commissioners attempted to fix the advertising rates of the newspapers at such low figures that the papers declined to do any more official advertising. An official land sale was not advertised as the law directed but posted up on a tree.

The Supreme Court of California has decided the sale null and void, and it has cost the county about one hundred times the cost of an advertisement at regular commercial rates.

Some years ago Attorney-General Alexander despite the plain letters of the law, attempted to save the State a few hundred dollars by refusing to advertise the Constitutional Amendments, and the Supreme Court decided that they were therefore null and void.

This attempted economy cost the State many thousands of dollars, and Mr. Alexander was retired to private life. The Courts have, over and over again decided that officials cannot fix advertising rates for publishers.

The Senators of Washington think Stanford's loan bill will tempt numbers of people by the low rate of interest to ruin themselves by borrowing.

It is not the borrowing that ruins people, but the attempt to pay the high rates of interest now exacted by the money lenders. The sudden solicitude the Shylocks of Wall street have begun to manifest for the poor, is something very tender and tearful and touching.

A stalwart young man at Leavenworth, Kansas, recently accepted a wager that he could not stand a quart of water dropped into his open hand, drop by drop, from a height of three feet. Before 500 drops had fallen into his hand he almost cried with pain and said he had enough. After a little water had fallen each drop seemed to crush his hand, and a blister in the center of it was the result.

The rains in the South and in Arizona are very heavy and the streams are getting in a dangerous condition. In Arizona the suspension bridge at Clifton has been swept away and people living near the river are fleeing.

Elliott Free.

In April, 1888, W. T. C. Elliott killed John D. White, his wife's uncle, near Big Pine, Inyo county, California. He was tried at Independence in July 1880, convicted of murder and sentenced to be hanged. The case was appealed to the Supreme Court which reversed the judgment of the lower court and ordered a new trial for the defendant. The venue was changed and Elliott was tried again at Bakersfield, Kern county, Cal., in May, 1890. The jury disagreed, eight being for acquittal and four for conviction. A third trial of the case took place at Bakersfield last December, the jury disagreeing as before, eight being for acquittal. Elliott was discharged from custody upon his own recognizance and on the 13th instant upon motion of the District Attorney of Inyo county the case was dismissed.

The case has cost the county thousands of dollars and the successive juries who declined to convict have been cursed from one end of Inyo county to the other.
